FESTIVAL OF FLAGS

Congratulations to Fairhaven for its celebration in honor of the U. S. Flag. The four-day event was the culmination of 15 months of planning and work by the Festival of Flags committee, and these months of effort produced a fine program. Fairhaven was beautiful with long avenues of U. S. Flags, and Route 6 was decorated with State Flags - some never seen before by people in this locality. Through the cooperation of all branches of the military, we were able to see some of the best displays and units available in the country. The Nike missile demonstration grouped on one stage the entire array of sophisticated electronic gear used in the tracking and firing of this first line of U. S. Defense. This was one of the few places in the world where such a display could be seen. The Gemini, in the news frequently, enabled us to see the size, the shape and examine closely the actual instruments of this space ship. The demonstration of the Special Forces training unit was a fascinating one.

The model of the U.S.S. Quonsett Point and all of the bands and special units which marched and played were first time events for us. Fairhaven brought together the finest in the country in honor of the brightest symbol in the world. This is creative effort of the finest kind.

SELECTMEN APPLY FOR FEDERAL FUNDS

Mattapoisett Selectmen have sent a letter of Mr. Frank C. Trentacosti of the Department of Housing & Urban Development to apply for a Federal advance of funds under Federal Law 560 for the preliminary planning of sewage facilities, as authorized by the town meeting vote in March.

GRANGE MEETING

The bi-monthly meeting of Mattapoisett Subordinate Grange was omitted last Thursday, and the members enjoyed a covered dish supper at 6:30 P.M. Following the supper, Miss Doris Fearing gave a fine report of her activities at the Youth Training School held at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

As one of the group leaders, she emphasized the value of the knowledge gained in the different classes they attended in code reading, sports, music, field day activities, conservation, drill, public relations as well as the fun times too. The days began with morning prayer and ended with evening chapel service. The Grange Youth Training not only teaches

THURSDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES

The Marion Art Center announces that a series of American and foreign films will be shown every Thursday night during July and August.

Operation Mad Ball, starring Jack Lemmon, Ernie Kovacs, Kathryn Grant, Arthur O'Connell and Mickey Rooney is one of the funniest Army comedies in years. Set in France after the end of the war, it deals with the attempt by GI's in a hospital unit to promote a mad ball off limits for the beautiful Army nurses. The late Ernie Kovacs, playing a stuffy regulation-bound officer, gives the best performance of his comedy career.

Operation Mad Ball will be shown Thursday, July 14th, at 8 P.M. at the Art Center, corner of Main and Pleasant Streets. Admission will be charged.

A Farm Boy's Memories of 100 Years Ago VI

The Examination

When Mattapoisett children finished the required number of grades in the "Olive Branch School House", they were promoted to the Intermediate School, the present residence of Mr. Anthony DeCosta but 100 years ago standing close to the street down on the northwest corner of Mechanic and Church Streets.

Father had missed quite a bit of schoolwork because of a siege of illness during the last weeks of his last term at the Olive Branch. Consequently the powers-that-be had decreed that he had to pass a special examination before he could enter the Intermediate. The examination was to be oral and was to be given Father by a member of the School Board, Mr. William Howland (father of Mrs. Arthur Perchard) who had sent word that the boy was to come late on a specified afternoon to his house on the west side of North Street a couple of houses down from what is now Route 6.

As this transition was taking place between the winter terms, one cold afternoon a small boy in the house at the Neck Road pulled on his cowhide boots, wrapped himself in his warmest clothes and mittens, stepped out into the snow, and walked through the gathering dusk into the village to North Street. As he walked he shivered not only from the cold without but from the fear within; to a small boy -- and a farm boy --the words "School Board" and "examination" struck the fear of God.

Upon his arrival, he was let in the back door by Mrs. Howland to whom he explained his errand. She was bustling about the kitchen getting supper, and explaining that Mr. Howland had not yet returned from a day of cutting wood on his woodlot, asked Father to wait in sort of a back kitchen until the School Board Member returned. So Father went out and sat down. Except for the dim rays of the kitchen lamp, which had to turn a couple of corners to get into the room, it was soon completely dark.

Father waited. He could hear the clink of dishes as Mrs. Howland set the table; he could time Mr. Howland came into the kitchen, greeted his wife, and Father could hear him use pump and tea kettle and a basin of water to scrub his hands and wrists and to wash his face and neck. Then the scraping of chairs and the couple sat down to eat. Mrs. Howland had completely forgotten the visitor.

To the visitor, the boy in the dark, his predicament was now very real indeed. He had been scared enough when he arrived. Sitting by himself awaiting his ordeal, the lump in his stomach grew. Then came the series of incomprehensible happenings when no one came to get him. When Mr. Howland had arrived he had got all ready to be called; when Mr. Howland entered the house he fully expected to be summoned. But as time went on and absolutely nothing happened, he became too paralyzed to even dare walk into the strange kitchen and announce himself, especially when he had been told by the wife of the School Committee Member to stay out in the back room and she would call him. So he waited--the tears growing uncontrollable.

Mr. and Mrs. Howland finally finished their meal. She cleared the table. He sat down in the rocking chair by the stove to re-read the weekly New Bedford Republican Standard. In about ten minutes she had occasion to get something from the back kitchen. When she stepped into the room and saw Father, she hear the rattling of pots and pans on the stove; he could smell the aroma of a full-sized, man's meal. After a while Mr. Howland drove into the barnyard and Father could hear him unhitch his gear and drive his horses into the barn. In due

Then enough could not be done for the frightened boy. They soothed him and comforted him. They insisted that he sit down and eat some supper.

Then the School Board Member took Father into the living room and proceeded with the examination. It consisted of two questions: and it was one of Father's greatest sorrows that he could never remember what they were.

MESSAGE FROM USMC

On behalf of the United States Marine Corps, MSGT Frank E. Cooper and SSGT Joseph R. Robinson would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the recent high school graduates, both male and female. To those who have been accepted by the various colleges and universities throughout the United States we wish you all the luck in the world with your future studies and professions you have chosen.

The Marine Corps is in dire need of men of good caliber and as high school graduates you can fill this basic need. Your opportunities as a marine are unlimited, the only limitation will be the one you place upon yourself. You may qualify for any technical field known to the armed forces, except medical. You would have ample opportunity to apply for a free four year college education in one of the physical scien-

REPORT FROM REP. HASTINGS KEITH

Thanks to the 11,000 of you who answered my questionnaire, I can say in all sincerity that I have seldom -- during my nearly eight years in Congress -- been as truly informed as I am today of my constituents' views on such a variety of important issues.

As usual, the most interesting questions proved to be those producing highly divided responses -- such as Number 7. A substantial minority
